

Information document regarding cookies

Cookies

1. Cookies is the name given to a specific type of text file stored on the user's device when visiting a website, in particular to ensure its proper technical functioning (e.g. to display the content of the website) or for statistical, analytical or marketing purposes.
2. In terms of the functioning of the website, we differentiate the following types of cookies: strictly necessary cookies, analytical cookies, marketing cookies and functional cookies.
3. According to the law, the user's consent is not required for storage of cookies which are necessary for operation of the website. All other types of cookies can only be stored on the user's device with their consent.
4. A list of the cookies currently in use, including their inclusion in a specific category, is provided when you first access the website before giving your consent. It is also available later via the consent settings.
5. The user can change the consent settings for use of cookies at any time in the footer of the website by following the link called "Cookie settings".
6. The user can configure whether or not to allow cookies to be stored on their device via the settings of their web browser, and can also delete existing cookies. Deletion of cookies or not allowing their storage may make it difficult or in some cases impossible to load our website. Settings vary according to the web browser used. Procedure for Mozilla Firefox can be found here, for Google Chrome here and for Edge here.
7. More information about personal data protection can be found here.